seminar paper from the year 2002 in the subject english language and literature studies literature grade 3 0 c uni jena de institute for anglistics american studies course british campus fiction language english abstract the history man is one of malcolm bradbury s seven novels and it was published in 1975 this satiric novel belongs to the campus fiction of the seventies a campus novel is determined by the history of an university it mirrors problems and crises of the institution at that time the meeting of students and lecturers in this kind of novel is an important feature those two groups constitute the social system of the university and build up the story because every group makes different experiences in this institution in an interview malcolm bradbury explained some of the tensions that lay behind the history man within this novel he wanted to deal with some ironic processes of human behaviour therefore the author gives his characters some important trades the university of watermouth is one of the new universities because it was founded after the war this institution is an invention of the author the main character is a lecturer of sociology doctor howard kirk he does not want to teach history as it was he just wants to make history after his own radical opinion his aim is to revolutionize teaching and that is why his seminars are the means to an end for his political self realization referring to the title of the book howard kirk as the history man influences the students not only in their view about the university but also in their opinion about politics that is why there are some advocates of his teaching methods but also some opponents the man influences some students so enormously that he is responsible for their opinion about the state of academia this can be proved on the example of felicity phee a student of howard two girls who also study at the university of watermouth and george carmody furthermore doctor kirk is characterized in the relationships to those people indirectly he is shown in different parts but he is always just interested in his own aims and not in the needs of other people a monumental critical history that sums up the american literary achievement from henry james to thomas pynchon beginning with the 1890s and the seminal novels of henry james and theodore dreiser this highly acclaimed volume charts the flowering of the american narrative tradition it takes in hemingway fitzgerald and faulkner the emergence of jewish and african american literatures and the works of thomas pynchon philip roth and kurt vonnegut updated to consider the most important fiction of the 1980s and early 90s the modern american novel is a comprehensive critical history of american literary achievement this book examines satirical portrayals of academia as exhibited in works of academic fiction revealing the way in which this genre represents university life to the broader reading public and enables members of that sub culture to critically engage their own negotiations of individual communal and institutional identity this work should appeal to scholars interested in the literary genre of satire in contemporary university life and in literature contemporary cultural issues problems and performances by way of interpretations of academic fiction that observe this phenomenon composed by practicing academics who also appreciate satire aimed at their profession the authors offer this collection as a correction to increasingly cynical portrayals of academic life instead the authors provide interpretations that identify satire as a timely and effective genre for critically commenting on the state of academia because it reveals ethical dimensions that engage an ironic voice to negotiate issues of culture and identity included among the essays are the results of responses gathered from practicing authors in the genre of academic satire who provide commentary and insights exclusive to this collection
